

SUPPLIES - For your AP Art History notebook you will need the following:

1. 2-3" binder (I have a few extras lying around if you need one)
2. Dividers: 1-40 (one for each unit) and a few regular other sections (Introduction, Final Review, AP Review...) Formal dividers or stickie notes are good options.
3. Glue stick for pasting images to your notecards. (optional, see below)
4. Binder rings for keeping your notecards together (optional, see below)
5. Scissors for cutting out images (optional, see below)
6. Notecards, a ton (optional, see below)

(Items 4-6 are only necessary if you are using the index card method for Art Cards.)

CONTENTS - For each chapter, you will need to include the following in your notebook:

- Chapter Notes that you take either from class or reading on your own
- Completed Unit "Study Guide"
- Art Cards or Art Sheets
- APAH250 Deep Analysis work
- Supplemental handouts

ART CARDS

Due the day of tests, Art Cards are index cards with the image glued to one side and the details on the back.

- Download the Art Cards image set for each chapter
- Cut out the images and glue each one to its own Art Card
- Include the following info on the back
 - Name/Title of work- always underline
 - Artist/Architect- Who created it? (name or culture in some instances)
 - Date- When was it created?
 - Period- When? Cultural and time reference
 - Material/Technique (media)- What is it made of? How was it created?
 - Location- Where was it originally placed and viewed
 - Other important info (patron, context, function, connections, inspirations, etc..) Make sure you have all relevant FFCC info.

ART SHEETS

Due the day of tests, Art Sheets are an alternative to the index card method and involve completing a graphic organizer for each chapter.

1. Download the Art Sheets image set for each chapter.
2. Complete the right side of the paper with all of the information from the Art Cards above (#3)

APAH250 DEEP ANALYSIS

Complete an analysis of the APAH 250 as we go along. This will be a huge part of your prep for the AP. (Some of the images are not in your textbook, but will be included in Art Cards/Sheets and the 250 Deep Analysis.)
